Executive Summary

1. Financial year 2006/07 is the 3rd year of the partnership between the Management Standards Centre and SkillsActive in support of the launch and implementation of the 2004 National Occupational Standards (NOS) for Management and Leadership.
2. The partners have developed a management and leadership capacity across the SfBN by building a network of 14 Management and Leadership Champions. Those sectors currently with champions cover over 12 million people in the UK workforce.
3. The partnership, working with the champions, have developed a robust and tested process of peer review to ensure a consistent approach to adoption of the 2004 NOS by SSCs and to drive forward the transferability of management and leadership skills. As a result there was a substantial rise in importations to 382 in 2006/07.
4. Engagement by the network is further demonstrated by the increasing use of units from the 2004 NOS by sectors, including those that have not traditionally engaged with management and leadership skills, this year 19 organisations imported units, including new users such as The Newspaper Society.
5. The champions have had a real and demonstrable impact on the success of the partnership, including contributing to the development of 9 new standards as part of the MSC's incremental review, as well as inputting into the finalisation of the sector qualification strategy for Management and Leadership.
6. The partnership has also successfully built awareness of, and engagement with the NOS across the SfBN's stakeholders and the wider UK management and leadership community through promotional launches, partnership working and the development of products based on the NOS in response to stakeholder demands, such as the Management and Leadership Toolkit and a promotional leaflet called Management Standards: the Essential Guide.
7. These successes can be built upon by a continued programme of activity, which will focus on the expansion and sustainability of the champion's model, and further targeted engagement with key stakeholders across the UK.
8. The partnership will continue to develop resources and products to support the development of management and leadership skills across the UK, with a focus on supporting the management and leadership needs being articulated by employers through the SSA and SQS development process and feeding this into an effective and fit for purpose 2020 Vision for Management and Leadership.

1 Background

- 1.1 The 2004 suite of management and leadership standards represent the 3rd iteration since their inception in the early 1990s. They were developed by the Management Standards Centre (MSC) between 2002 and 2004 through extensive employer and stakeholder consultation. They represent a clear articulation of the skills, behaviours and knowledge required by managers and leaders in the UK across all sectors and sizes of business.
- 1.2 The Skills for Business Network (SfBN) has recognised the value of the standards to the employers that they represent, and has chosen to engage with them through one of the value added projects under the guidance of the SfBN Business Skills Board (previously the Cross Sector Management Board). The project strand is designed to allow the SfBN to take greater ownership of the standards, to embed them through sectoral implementation, and to shape their future development.

2 Overarching aims of the MSC and SkillsActive Partnership

- 2.1 Financial year 2006/2007 represents the third full year of the partnership arrangement between the MSC and SkillsActive to implement and embed the use of the M and L NOS across the SfBN, and the second year work has progressed to a fully integrated project plan.
- 2.2 The partnership working between MSC and SkillsActive is intended to make a major contribution to SSDA's current priority to support Programmes of Vocational Reform. The Sector Qualifications Reform Programme (SQRP) is one part of a broad reaching initiative to radically change the landscape of vocational qualifications in the UK.
- 2.3 As part of this Programme MSC and SkillsActive aim to ensure that Management and Leadership qualifications and other learning programmes available across the UK are more effective in equipping people with the skills that employers demand. This will contribute significantly to the UK's business productivity, by ensuring that employers are able to make the most of the skills of their employees.
- 2.4 In addition, the parties have jointly been developing a high impact Management and Leadership strategy for implementation across the whole SSC network.¹
- 2.5 The specific aims of the project in 2006/2007 were as follows:
 - Further develop the proven, and excellent, partnership arrangements as an exemplar for the SfBN;
 - Develop innovative arrangements to extend the ownership of the M and L NOS to the remaining SSCs who do not have a M and L Standards Champion through offering opportunities to engage with the programme;
 - Extension of the ownership of the NOS to the network;
 - Develop a Sector Qualifications Strategy for Management and Leadership;
 - Build, develop and cement relationships with external stakeholders;
 - Ensure a programme of activity delivered by the MSC and SkillsActive that meets the employer needs set out by the SfBN, which includes;
 - (1) Coordination and management of Apprenticeships;

¹ See: <http://www.skillsactive.com/training/management-and-leadership>

- (2) Continued support for, and specialist development of, the SfBN's growing network of M and L Champions;
 - (3) Dedicated web site;
 - (4) Continued publication, communication and awareness raising of NOS across all sectors and nations in the UK;
 - (5) Coordination of Peer group review to ensure continued importation of the NOS across the SfBN;
 - (6) Support other "industry bodies" to take ownership of the M and L NOS.
- 2.6 This report will look at the joint activities undertaken by SkillsActive and the MSC to meet the above objectives and will seek to evaluate and, where appropriate, make recommendations for future activities.

3 Project deliverables

- 3.1 SkillsActive and the MSC have worked in partnership to deliver the contracted outcomes for financial year 2006/2007. The sections below provide an overview of the key activities undertaken and achievements made against each deliverable.

Further develop the proven and excellent partnership arrangements as an exemplar for the Skills for Business Network

- 3.2 Financial year 2006/7 bore witness to increasingly close partnership working between SkillsActive and the MSC. In recognition of this fruitful partnership Stephen Studd (CEO of SkillsActive) has been invited to give a presentation about "Buddying from an SSC Perspective" at the next standards setting body meeting on the 26 March 2007.
- 3.3 The excellent partnership between SkillsActive and MSC is also demonstrated by the extent to which the partnership has been invited to participate in projects, wider than those originally envisaged by the scope of the Sector Skills Development Agency (SSDA) contract. These include;
- Specialised Diploma in Public Service led by Government Skills SSC, the purpose of this project is to develop a specialised diploma suitable for 14-19 year old students wishing to pursue employment in the public service, and includes core skills required by the Professional Skills for Government (PSG) framework such as people management, financial management and project management.
 - Development of a framework mapping the M&L NOS to the Investor in People (IiP) Standard, this project will link an M&L NOS based tool which aims to improve the internal Management capability of SSCs, with a clearly defined road map to achieving the IiP standard. SkillsActive's Senior Management Team will be used as a working case study to help develop the framework for roll out to other SSCs.
 - The Third Sector Leadership Centre, an initiative of the UK Workforce Hub, is developing a NOS-based assessment tool for third sector leaders. The thrust of this project is to combine relevant NOS in a single assessment tool called Third Sector Performer that can be used for leadership skills mapping, recruitment and appraisals and to inform training and development programmes. The Third Sector Performer will create benchmarks of competence by combining 6 NOS including the M&L NOS.
 - The North West Development Agency are developing a baseline on leadership and management skills in the North West, and identifying a number of key performance indicators (KPIs) with which to monitor progress against Action 35 in the new North West Regional Economic Strategy (aimed at developing world-class management and leadership skills within the region). As part of this work, the MSC and Skillsactive are involved in the consultations, and have provided data and research on leadership and management skills to assist the development of the baseline KPIs.

- 3.4 The partnership has received funding from Foundation Degree Forward to develop an overarching foundation degree framework for generic management and leadership. Work has progressed significantly on developing the framework for formal approval, this financial year two high profile consultation events were jointly hosted by the MSC and FDF. The first event was attended by 14 representatives from Business Schools and agreement was reached that the framework should be based on the M&L NOS. The second event was organised to engage key employers in the development of the framework; agreement was reached to start pilots which will serve as case studies.
- 3.5 The extent to which the partnership has the confidence of the SfBN is demonstrated by the support provided by the SfBN Business Skills Board for the successful SkillsActive/MSc bid to be involved in the QCA project to look at the development of apprenticeships as 'qualifications'. The key outcome of this project was a detailed report produced by MSC in March 2006.²

The MSC carried out both primary and secondary research to collate evidence on the issues around converting the current management apprenticeship framework into a formal qualification. Primary research involved conducting survey questionnaires with training providers and employers, while secondary research entailed undertaking a systematic review of the literature on apprenticeships. This review included reading key government publications, analysing performance statistics on apprenticeships as well as using other sources such as research generated by the QCA on the project. Based on the findings from the research the following conclusion was reached:

“Although the idea of converting the current apprenticeship into an official qualification was seen largely as a positive step, stakeholders were still adamant that things such as completion, take up and status of the apprenticeships would all be more likely to rise if efforts were focused on improving the delivery of the current framework”.

The MSC has decided not to pilot a 'qualification' for the management apprenticeship schemes and is instead working on supporting and improving the current frameworks.

- 3.6 Work undertaken by SkillsActive and the MSC has played a crucial role in continuing to inform the SfBN on how to engage with cross occupational areas that fall outside individual SSC footprints. For instance, MSC is the only cross sector body in the pilot phase of the Sector Qualifications Reform Programme looking at Sector Qualification Strategies, and has made a notable contribution to the development of the Quality Standard for assessing SQSs. The MSC partnership with SkillsActive is being held up as a robust model within which, SSBs such as Habia (covering hair, beauty, nails, spa therapy and barbering) have also started to work more closely with the network to meet the needs and aspirations of their employers.

Develop innovative arrangements to extend the ownership of the M and L NOS to the remaining SSCs who do not have a Management and Leadership Standards Champion through offering opportunities to engage with the programme

- 3.7 The initial work undertaken by SkillsActive on behalf of SfBN identified that greater ownership of the management and leadership NOS by SSCs could be achieved through the development of a cohort of management and leadership champions across the network. This concept and network was further developed during financial year 2006/2007.
- 3.8 The rationale underpinning the work of the champions has two strands:

² For a copy of the full report please contact Dr Kion Ahadi (kion.ahadi@managers.org.uk).

- To ensure ownership of the new management and leadership NOS by the SfBN and to assist SSC's in promoting the M&L NOS to their sectors.
- To ensure a consistent approach to contextualisation of the management and leadership standards across the SfBN and the wider standards setting community, allowing greater transferability between sectors through the Management Peer Review Group.

3.9 This financial year (even without additional funding) SkillsActive and MSC invited the 13 SSCs without a champ to join the network by writing to the CEOs of each SSC. As a result, the cohort of 12 existing funded SSC champions were joined this year by two non-funded champions one from SummitSkills and the other from Skills for Logistics.³ To entice membership (without funding support) we suggested buddying SSCs based on SSA tranche. We offered each non-champion SSC the opportunity to join the network by buddying them with a SSC further up (where possible) the SSA track (see table 1). The 11 SSCs below decided not to officially join the program.

³ The 12 SSCs with funded Champs are GoSkills, Improve, Skills for Health, SkillsActive, Cogent, Skillset, Asset Skills, Skillsmart, LLUK, Skills for Justice, SEMTA and Skillfast-UK.

- 3.10 All new Champions have received induction training and further development days in support of their roles. In addition, all have been provided with the new Management and Leadership Toolkit and supporting materials to aid promotion to their sectors. The expansion, this year, of the champions' network to 14 SSCs means that over 12.3 million workers in the UK economy are now covered by management and leadership champions.
- 3.11 Full details of the specific work undertaken by individual champions can be found in appendix one of this report, some highlights were:
- Asset Skills: Set up an initial programme of management and leadership workshops and seminars defined by employers. Publication of a guide about management and leadership standards and their uses for the sector, as well as setting up a funding directory for management and leadership training as a guide to training providers.
 - Skillset: Have continued to promote equality and diversity across their sector by promoting Management and Leadership NOS units B11 and B12 to their employers as best practice, they also measure the on going work by the Diversity Champions within Skillset against B11 and B12 standards.
 - Skillfast-UK: Took part in various Steering Groups to promote the Management and Leadership NOS and seek views, including the Northern Leadership Academy, East Midlands M&L Group and East of England M&L Group, also promoted M&L at internal meetings. Approximately 100 M&L toolkits distributed to date.
 - Skillsmart Retail: Explored options for a Level 4 qualification for managers of large stores, incorporating the contextualised M & L NOS. Discussions were held with MSC and with two Awarding Bodies (EDI and Edexcel). Options identified are a parallel L4 N/SVQ in Retail Management or an endorsed pathway in the Management N/SVQ at Level 4.
- 3.12 The champions have been instrumental in generating stakeholder and employer feedback for MSC consultation exercises undertaken during financial year 2006/2007. The MSC held consultation events to gain feedback on the Management and Leadership Qualifications and Learning Strategy project, as well as the review of the 2004 Management and Leadership NOS.⁴ This has increased ownership of the project outputs such as the 2020 Vision for Management and Leadership, which outlines the ten principles upon which qualifications and learning for the sector need to be based on in the future. Information provided by the champions has also been used to inform the incremental change programme of work undertaken by the MSC, and has contributed to the development of 9 new NOS units which will be submitted to UKCG for approval in financial year 2006/2007.
- 3.13 It should be noted that SkillsActive and MSC have continued to work proactively with all SSCs regardless of whether they have an M&L champion or not. For instance, 23 out of 25 SSCs provided a response to Mike Hender's various requests for further information as part of our review of M&L themes and priorities emerging from SSAs.⁵
- 3.14 Table 2 below shows a summary of the responses received (we have used green to indicate a response and red to indicate no response). Within Table 2:
- Column A shows SSCs who responded to the first questionnaire sent out by Stephen Studd (CEO of SkillsActive) on 20 Oct 2006;

⁴ The workshops were held in Belfast on 20 February 2007, London on 1 March 2007, Edinburgh on 5 March 2007 and Cardiff on 6 March 2007.

⁵ Energy and Utility Skills and Financial Services Skills were the two SSCs that did not respond.

- Column B shows SSCs who responded to Mike Hender's 27 Nov 2006 request for confirmation that he had interpreted initial responses correctly;
- Column C shows SSCs who responded to Mike Hender's request after the Management and Leadership Forum meeting held on the 5 December 2006.

Extension of the ownership of the NOS to the network

3.15 In financial year 2005/2006 SSCs and SSBs imported the generic management units on 66 occasions. For the year 2006/2007 the MSC has approved 382 importations. Chart 1 summarises the number of importations by area of competence covered by the NOS, these are:

- A Units = Managing Self and Personal Skills;
- B Units = Providing Direction;
- C Units = Facilitating Change;
- D Units = Working with People;
- E Units = Using Resources;
- F Units = Achieving Results.

As the chart below highlights units on providing direction and working with people were the most common competence area from which units were imported.

3.16 The top three most popular imported units were;

1. (21) Unit A2 –Manage your own resources and professional development;
2. (20) Unit B6 – Provide leadership in your area of responsibility;
3. (16) Unit D6 – Allocate and monitor the progress and quality of work in your area of responsibility.

3.17 One key factor that has contributed to the substantial rise in importation requests was the invitation by SSDA to the MSC to present at the NOS development day on the 28th September 2006. The MSC made a formal presentation to NOS managers from SSCs and SSBs about the M&L NOS and on the Management Peer Review Group process for importations. The MSC and SkillsActive received positive feedback about the day from several SSCs/SSBs.

3.18 The partnership anticipates a continuation of the upward trend in importation requests for next financial year, as the nine new M&L NOS units developed under incremental review this year are approved, and awareness of them begins to rise. The nine new units due for submission to UKCG are:

- D8 Help team members address problems affecting their performance;
- D9 Build and manage teams;
- D10 Reduce and Manage conflict in your team;
- D11 Lead meetings;
- D12 Participate in Meetings;
- E8 Manage physical resources;
- E9 Manage the environmental impact of your work;
- E10 Take effective decisions;
- E11 Communicate information and knowledge.

3.19 The Management Peer Review Group process was significantly streamlined and improved in 2006/2007. New guidance material for importing SSCs/SSBs was written, and the number of forms requiring completion to go through the process was reduced from two to one form. The process has continued to use the developing expertise of the management and leadership champions to make informed decisions on what constitutes appropriate contextualisation and tailoring of the generic units for sector need. The transparency of this process and the emerging best practice has been welcomed by SSCs and is being explored as a model for possible application in other cross sector areas, especially after the NOS development day presentation made by MSC. It is also important to note that the process has the support of all the qualifications regulating authorities across the UK and is being promoted by them as an exemplar of good practice.

3.20 This year we decided that three Champions should help make importation decisions on a rotating basis. This freed up time in Champions meetings to discuss other M&L related projects and activities. For example, the afternoon section of the Champs meetings was devoted to inviting experts in the field of Management and Leadership to give motivational presentations about key skills issues. Speakers included;

- Andrew Pollard – Director of EMP Intelligence Service: a leading expert in the field of competitive intelligence Andrew’s presentation outlined the importance of managers and leaders to be able to assess the relative strengths of their competitors. Collecting and using information effectively is a crucial skill required for managers and leaders in a competitive environment to help drive up business performance. To highlight his message Andrew gave several case study examples linked to the different sectors SSC champs represent.
- Ken Flood – Managing Director of Management and Performance Solutions Ltd: Ken talked about Performer a software tool developed by a team of training consultants and software/web designers which uses the M&L standards to support performance improvements in private, public and voluntary sector organisations. His team also outlined the work MAPS are currently doing with SSCs such as Lantra and People 1st to develop a Skills Passport for employers and employees in each sector’s footprint.

- 3.21 The MSC has supported the development and submission of Automotive Skill's level 3 NVQ qualification in Automotive Retail Management. A further indication of the extent to which the network feels it has ownership of the NOS can also be demonstrated by their use by four SSCs: People 1st used the NOS in their Visitor Attraction, Theme Park, and Holiday & Hostel Industry Standards Project; Go Skills have used the M&L NOS for a Rail Operations Level 3 qualification; Skills for Justice used the M&L NOS to develop a Suite of NOS for Policing and Law Enforcement; Skillset have imported NOS during the re-development of their NOS for Photo Imaging. In total this year 19 different SSCs and SSBs used the M&L NOS in various projects.
- 3.22 SkillsActive and the MSC also work in partnership through the Management and Leadership Qualifications Forum to ensure that accredited and emerging generic management and leadership qualifications offers are responsive to the needs of the employers represented within the SfBN.

A Sector Qualifications Strategy for Management and Leadership

- 3.23 The MSC is currently the only SSB in the pilot phase (managed by SSDA) that has contributed to developing a common quality standard for assessing SQSs. We have met all milestones for this project and will submit the Management and Leadership SQS in the quality standard template to SSDA by 31 March 2007. The MSC has consulted extensively (across the four nations) both through events and online questionnaires to gain feedback on the draft strategy. The agreed vision is that:

“Managers and leaders seize relevant and attractive opportunities to develop their knowledge, skills and performance to national and international standards and have their achievements recognised through qualifications of real value.”

- 3.24 As part of the work on developing the SQS the MSC commissioned three important reports about Management and Leadership in the UK:
- Phase 1 (Desk Research): this report outlined the key challenges currently facing managers and leaders in the UK and also detailed the sector's needs and aspirations for skills development over the next 5 to 10 years. Particular emphasis was on how qualifications and/or learning provision need to support workforce development, as well as identifying the skills needs which are required to increase competitiveness.
 - Phase 2 (Analysis of Current and Emerging SSAs and SQSs): this report summarises what the key management and leadership challenges are in each sector, how these are being addressed or will be addressed, and how the management and leadership aspects of individual SSAs and SQSs can be integrated with the overarching M&L SQS being developed by the MSC.
 - Phase 3 (Gap Analysis): this report provides a high-level analysis of both accredited and unaccredited learning and qualifications in management and leadership to show how well they match the success criteria developed in the phase 1 report. The scope of this report was limited to an analysis of types of learning and qualifications with examples, rather than a detailed analysis of the qualifications themselves.⁶
- 3.25 The MSC and SkillsActive have worked very closely on this project and the research undertaken by the Management Standards Consultancy (working on behalf of the MSC) has drawn on, and benefited from, research carried out by Mike Hender in his review of SSAs. The SQS work is also contributing to the partnership's development of a generic Management and Leadership strategy for the SfBN.

Build, develop and cement relationships with external stakeholders

- 3.26 The partnership has worked to establish relationships with stakeholders from across the UK management and leadership community. This activity has been taken forward in a number of ways, including launch events, attendance at national and regional conferences and meetings with individual stakeholder bodies as appropriate.
- 3.27 The MSC has distributed nearly 1,000 copies of a new Management and Leadership Toolkit and other supporting literature to employers and other stakeholders in support of relationship building. In 2006/2007 the MSC also began licensing the use of the management and leadership standards to training organisations for use in software tools and solutions designed to improve business performance. Further details of these activities can be found in section six (under promotion of the M&L standards).
- 3.28 The MSC has established links with the Capability Development Group, Ministry of Trade & Industry in Singapore. We are advising them on how the management and leadership standards were developed, with examples of the benefits employers have derived from using them. SkillsActive and MSC will be hosting a meeting with them in London on 16th April to further advise them in the area of talent management for local enterprises to propel their growth and expansion. We will also discuss how to foster capabilities in Human Resources, workforce development, as well as leadership and management. They are particularly interested to understand how national policies/programmes in these areas were initiated, implemented, and impacted SMEs in the UK. We have suggested the delegation also meets with SSDA. This approach from a foreign government demonstrates how the partnership is acquiring an international reputation for excellence in Management and Leadership skills related thinking.

Ensure a programme of activity delivered by the MSC that meets the employer needs set out by the Skills for Business Network

- 3.29 The success of employer engagement with previous iterations of the NOS for management and leadership have, to a degree, been hampered by the perception that they were 'owned' by the management standards setting body, which was reluctant to allow SSCs, their predecessor bodies and other employer representative organisations to respond to the standards as they felt appropriate for their sector. This has impacted on employer engagement with the previous iterations in two ways.
1. There has been reluctance on behalf of sector bodies to promote a generic offer to employers that, without contextualisation, was unlikely to find a receptive audience.
 2. The focus on the generic offer and reluctance on the part of the MSC's predecessor body to allow suitable contextualisation has in some sectors created a "management is different here" culture, leading to a proliferation of variants of the generic 1997 management and leadership NOS. This has had a resulting loss of transferability of the standards and sent out a variety of confusing and sometimes contradictory messages to employers.
- 3.30 SkillsActive and the MSC have worked well with partner organisations during financial year 2006/2007 to continue to change the above perception, by producing a clear and transparent system for the contextualisation of the standards, which allows greater sector ownership of the NOS through "fit for purpose" contextualised generic units.

- 3.31 The partnership has also developed a new promotional leaflet targeted at employers called "Management Standards the Essential Guide". The leaflet lists the top ten management priorities based on extensive research carried out with employers across all SSC footprints.⁷ It also outlines the relevant NOS units to apply to help in addressing these key management development priorities. For instance, one of the top priorities cited by employers is the need for effective Business Planning; relevant M&L standards to apply are Units A2, B1, B2, B3 and B4. The prominence of the SfBN logo on all promotional materials such as the new leaflet indicates to partners the importance of the NOS to the network and the employers which it represents.⁸
- 3.32 The MSC gave a well received presentation about the Management and Leadership standards at a conference organised by SkillsActive in Edinburgh (17 November 06). The conference brought together key employers, training providers and government agencies to look at ways of addressing skills gaps and shortages and continuous professional development in the workplace.

4 Activity report financial year 2006/2007

- 4.1 The scope of the partnership working between SkillsActive and the MSC is defined by the integrated project proposal made to SSDA in March 2006. The partnership arrangements are facilitated by a contract held between SkillsActive and the SSDA, as well as a partnership agreement held between SkillsActive and MSC.
- 4.2 Where items are common to both parties they are only referenced once to avoid duplication. For instance, a number of SkillsActive's contracted objectives outlined in the partnership agreement have already been reported on in section 3, these include:
- To continue to develop the work of the existing network of SSC M and L Champions and explore innovative arrangements (including toolkit development) to roll the programme out to the remaining SSCs currently without a champion;
 - To work collaboratively with the MSC to develop a commonality of understanding and approach with other non SSDA/SSC agencies to address the M and L skills deficit across the UK;
 - To further define and develop a programme of work for each SSC Champion.
- 4.3 The following two sections outline the specific contracted objectives and achievements against these, not already covered, for each of the individual partners in more detail.

5 SkillsActive Activities

- 5.1 SkillsActive to set out a framework and co-ordinate the participation of the SfBN, in particularly the Business Skills, and Standards and Qualifications, Boards and all participating SSCs in this work.
- The Strategic Forum and joint (all) project group was set up, considering both strategic and operational areas.
 - Engagement with Boards has not always been easy due to the loss of a Management and Leadership Board. CEO National Steering Group meetings often have full agendas but it is hard to gain informed participation at this level.

⁷ To see the report visit: http://www.sdda-mandl.org.uk/files/mgt_md/SSDA-top-ten-issues-report.doc.

⁸ To receive copies of the promotional leaflet please contact the MSC on 0207 240 2826.

- M&L experts have 'grown' in SSCs with staff learning more about the NOS and more engaged in the promotion and use of the M&L NOS.
- 5.2 To continue to develop, in collaboration with other key partners a promotional and implementation programme for the M and L NOS based on sector analysis of need.
- A Draft strategy V5.81 has been produced along with an executive summary – SSCs have actively engaged with this work across the 4 nations using SSA data.
- 5.3 To provide SfBN representation in conferences, meetings and forums with key external agencies
- Ongoing representation by MSC and SkillsActive at various conferences /events: e.g. national and regional CoVEs, FDF, CMI.
 - Membership of the Management and leadership advisory panel and direct input into responses to the Leitch review.
 - Champions and project group members have promoted NOS and represented network at many events including a highly successful cross SSC event as part of Management month in Northern Ireland.
- 5.4 To engage target groups of key stakeholders who, to date have not been part of the initial phases of work.
- SkillsActive have invited non-member SSCs on several occasions to participate, including offering them Champion 'buddies'.
 - Non SSC sector bodies have been included in meetings and activities.
- 5.5 To improve the developing relationships with the HE sector through the continued promotion of the NOS and also the emerging Foundation Degree framework.
- SkillsActive engaged with:
- Coventry University Employer Engagement pilot;
 - Northern Leadership Academy;

6 MSC Activities

Promotion of the management and leadership standards

6.1 Ensuring availability of copies of the 1997 standards:

- The MSC continues to provide support to legacy users of the 1997 standards both in terms of their use as NOS and within the context of S/NVQ products.
- In 2006/2007 25 hard copies of the 1997 standards were sold to users.

6.2 Continue to develop a database of all known projects whose focus is to contextualise the new NOS: The MSC has worked to encourage the use of the standards in software tools to help improve business performance. In 2006/2007 we licensed the use of the management and leadership standards in four products;

- InfoBasis Ltd for Enterprise Skills Manager (ESM 4.5) database;
- WashBox Ltd or WashBox Simulation (a PC Based Management Simulation);
- Management and Performance Solutions Ltd for Performer Database;
- Oakleaf Associates for Assessment Resource Pack.

6.3 Attendance at promotional events and conferences; the MSC attended and exhibited at the following conferences:

- Quality Improvement Agency Conference - Birmingham (7th June 2006);
- FDF Conference in Northern Ireland (13th June 2006);
- FDF National Conference in Nottingham (11th-12th July 2006);
- CMI National Convention in Leeds (5th-6th October 2006);
- We presented at the NOS development day (28th September 2006).

We have attended NOS development days, formal meetings between all the SSBs, as well as the Management and Leadership Steering Group and Forum organised by SkillsActive. The MSC has also acted as an expert on several project groups.

6.4 Further develop the generic management and leadership NOS toolkit with rollout to key partners within the SfBN and the wider UK management and leadership community:

- In 2006/2007 the MSC published a Management and Leadership Toolkit, the toolkit includes a CD copy of the standards and has been widely distributed.⁹ Organisations such as Wales Management Council, the Scottish Executive, the Management and Leadership Network Northern Ireland, Regional Development Agencies, SSCs/SSBs, as well as other stakeholders have all received and disseminated copies to their networks.

6.5 Maintain a dedicated website for dissemination of the NOS:

- Eight new documents have been added to the website in 2006/2007.
- A new Section has been added to support the online responses to two key NOS related projects, the review of the M&L NOS and development of the SQS.
- A secure section of the site has also been developed to host the management and leadership champions' pages. This section of the site hosts all paperwork relating to the MPRG, the Champions action plans and can host consultation papers and discussion threads to aid the work of the champions. A user guide to support new members of the forum was developed in 2006/2007.¹⁰

⁹ To download a copy of the toolkit please visit: http://www.sfbn-mandl.org.uk/NOS_toolkit.htm.

- In 2006/2007 we had a total of 405 website enquiries and 105 NOS CDs were sold via the site.
- The website is currently under review based on feedback from users and a new improved site will be launched in September 2007.

Provide advice and guidance on the usage and potential for usage of the NOS

- During 2006/07 the MSC distributed over 6,000 copies (double the number in 2005/06) of NOS related material, this includes hard copies of the standards, CDs, leaflets and toolkits (not including those accessed via the MSC website or provided by awarding bodies or partner organisations for qualifications purposes).
- 9,315 (compared to 5,823 last year) enquiries regarding the NOS or related products have been responded to by the MSC in 2006/2007, with signposting to relevant SSCs and other stakeholders provided as appropriate.

Evaluate and endorse requests for importation of units of the standards

- In partnership with SkillsActive, the MSC has further developed the Management Peer Review Group process, improved supporting documentation, developed service standards and produced guidance and examples for SSCs/SSBs wishing to import units. MSC/SkillsActive also presented at a SSDA organised NOS Development Day specifically on this topic to both SSCs and SSBs.
- To date units from the NOS have been reviewed by the MSC and successfully imported on 448 occasions by SSCs/SSBs (66 in 2005/06 and 382 in 2006/07).
- The MSC has advised 19 organisations this year about their use of the Management and Leadership standards including; Automotive Skills, Cultural and Creative Skills, Construction Industry Council, Energy and Utility Skills, Go Skills, Improve Ltd, Lantra, People 1st, Pro Skills, Royal Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, SEMTA, Skillfast UK, Skills For Health, Skills For Justice, Skills for Security, Skillsmart Retail, SkillsPlus UK, Skillset, and The Newspaper Society.
- MSC has developed and maintains an Access database of all importations to date so that usage of units can be tracked; this has informed the incremental change process.

Targeted engagement with key agencies and organisations

- Our web-based consultations on the M&L SQS & incremental review of the NOS received over 100 responses of which 48% were employers/ managers, 28% were learning and qualification providers, 16% were intermediaries, 4% were Government departments and agencies, 4% were professional and representative bodies.
- We held four consultation events for the SQS and incremental review of the NOS projects, one in each country, which involved a total of 81 participants: 28% were employers/managers, 20% were learning and qualification providers, 20% were intermediaries, 11% were SSCs, 11% were Government departments and agencies, 9% were professional and representative bodies.

¹⁰ To receive a copy of the user guide and to get access rights to the forum please contact Rita Morar (rita.morar@managers.org.uk).

- Regular meetings have been held with colleagues from the professional bodies for management and leadership – The Chartered Management Institute and the Institute for Leadership and Management.
- A presentation on the NOS was given by the MSC to over 15 Business Schools at a Foundation Degree for Management and Leadership consultation event.
- The MSC has worked with the University of Portsmouth, Business School to help develop an MSc in Leadership and Management that is based on the NOS.
- The MSC is forming contacts with the Learning and Skills Council and the 31 M&L Centres of Vocational Excellence (COVE) after SkillsActive's presentation at the national specialist development group of the COVEs.
- In a recent survey commissioned by liP 73% of their customers said working with the liP Standard had strengthened leadership and management within their organisation. The research was carried out in December 2006 to evaluate what customers think of the latest version of the liP Standard and took into account the views of 1,166 organisations across a range of sectors. As a result, MSC and liP are working with SkillsActive to build a framework combining the M&L NOS with the liP standard for organisations to improve business performance.

Implementation, administration and promotion of apprenticeship frameworks

- The MSC launched new apprenticeship frameworks for England and Wales in 2006/07. These new frameworks included updated documentation which was disseminated to over 200 management apprenticeship training providers. The new frameworks were effective as follows:
 1. Advanced Apprenticeship & Modern Apprenticeship Management – 1st May 2006;
 2. Foundation Modern Apprenticeship (Wales only) Team Leading – 1st May 2006;
 3. Apprenticeship Team Leading (England) – 1st August 2006.
- The MSC is finalising approval of a new apprenticeship framework for Scotland.
- During 2006/07 the MSC certificated 2,391 apprentices/advanced apprentices in England, Wales and Scotland, as well as registering 1,193 modern apprentices across Scotland.
- The MSC is currently in the process of consulting with employers, providers and learners about suitable guidance material designed to support the apprenticeship schemes in England, Wales and Scotland. As a result of these consultations promotional literature for the apprenticeships will be published and disseminated during the summer.

Manage and organise the Management and Leadership Awarding Bodies Forum

- The MSC continues to provide the secretariat to the Management Awarding Body Forum and Head of MSC level representation. The forum met on 3 occasions during 2006/2007.
- The forum in collaboration with the MSC will facilitate the updating of assessment guidance and qualification structures in light of the nine new units added to the M&L NOS after they have been submitted to UKCG for approval. The forum also deals with all queries regarding the assessment of the suite of awards based on the NOS.
- The MSC has provided endorsement to the requests for accreditation of all 9 generic management S/NVQs and has also provided scrutiny and endorsement of requests for VRQ endorsement based on the NOS where requested. During 2006/2007 the MSC supported and extended 21 qualifications (VRQs and S/NVQs) based on NOS.

Provide a dedicated and tailored support to the SfBN regarding the NOS

- MSC has provided support, technical advice or represented the partnership/SfBN on management and leadership issues at meetings, events, conferences or other forums on the following agendas:
 - Apprenticeship Blueprint
 - Skills for Life/Employability Skills
 - Cross Sector engagement
 - Sector Qualifications Strategies
 - META units
 - Framework for Achievement
 - SCQF Credit and Level
 - NOS Development Criteria
 - Apprenticeship 'Qualifications'
 - Specialised Diplomas
 - Credit and Qualifications Framework Wales
 - Common Centre Recognition
 - Management and Leadership Forum
 - Foundation Degree Frameworks
 - Sector Qualification Criteria

7 Impact Evaluation

- 7.1 The activities detailed in the previous sections indicate that the partnership between SkillsActive and the Management Standards Centre has had a significant impact on the implementation and embedding of the NOS for management and leadership across the SfBN, with wider stakeholders across the UK management and leadership community, as well as with other organisations internationally (e.g. Government of Singapore).
- 7.2 When evaluating the impact and achievements of the partnership it is important to remember that no funding was available to support the management standards between the closure of the former standards setting body in 2000 and the introduction of SSDA funding in financial year 2004/2005, beyond limited 'maintenance' funding provided by the DfES. In many respects, the partnership and the network were attempting to engage/re-engage employers and other stakeholders from a standing start, and any external assessment of the impact of the project should appreciate this.
- 7.3 As previously identified the major challenge facing the partnership was the need to increase the SfBN's and other stakeholder's ownership of the NOS so that all parties felt confident in promoting them as a product. The over five-fold increase in importation requests in 2006/07, from the level in 2005/06, is a clear indication of the partnership's success in this objective.
- 7.4 The impact that the partnership has had is evidenced by the fact that over half the network has elected to have management and leadership champions to inform their own thinking on management and leadership and to shape the future of the NOS, demonstrating their importance to the network. This year the Champions from the 14 SSCs made a significant contribution to the development of nine new M&L standards.
- 7.5 Further evidence is provided by the extent to which stakeholders across the UK are choosing to engage with the standards, be it professional bodies embedding the standards within their CPD offer, government agencies using them as the basis of funding decisions to employers simply using them for their own development or training purposes. During 2006/07 the MSC granted 4 licences and approved 21 qualifications.
- 7.6 Whilst a formal impact evaluation has yet to be undertaken with individual stakeholders the headline items provide a clear indication of the partnership's success during 2006/07:
- 9,315 enquiries regarding the standards this year;
 - Over 6,000 copies of the standards, CD ROMs, toolkits and leaflets disseminated to employers and representative bodies this year alone;
 - 382 importations so far by SSCs and other sector bodies;
 - 9 new M&L standards developed;
 - National government and all devolved administrations publicly and actively engaged in their implementation and sustained use of the NOS.
- 7.7 Based on the achievements outlined above and given the low level of engagement with the 1997 standards outside of the qualifications context, there is a clear indication that the partnership has added value to the work of the SfBN through embedding the 2004 M&L NOS. Thus, the work of the partnership should be supported on an ongoing basis.

8 Recommendations

8.1 Based on the activities undertaken during financial year 2006/2007, the partnership would look to make the following recommendations:

- That the partnership receives continued and increased funding to support the implementation of the NOS across the SfBN and wider UK management and leadership community.
- Continued and expanded funding is made available to support the work of the existing management and leadership champions and to expand the programme to the remainder of the network. This is especially crucial given the completion of the Sector Qualification Strategy for Management and Leadership, and that the next stage of the work is to successfully publicise and gain stakeholder commitment to implement the vision and principles on a sector by sector basis.
- The concept of management and leadership champions is piloted with other non SSDA/SSC agencies with a responsibility for management and leadership, to ensure a commonality of approach to addressing the skills deficit across the UK. Businesses lose £6bn per year due to poor management and leadership across the UK; therefore implementing a common methodology to addressing skills needs based on a proven and fit for purpose model such as the Champions concept is vital.
- Further focused stakeholder engagement be undertaken to target groups not previously engaged during financial year 06/07, such as multinationals. Stakeholders already engaged in 2006/07 should continue to be prioritised to ensure commitment in depth, building a sustained and lasting impact from the benefits of the 2004 NOS.
- A series of problem identification and solution demonstration workshops be organised for different types of employers (e.g. public, private and voluntary) to further embed the benefits of using the M&L standards to improve business performance.
- Work be undertaken to publish and disseminate promotional materials in support of the new apprenticeship frameworks to aid export of the generic offer into all sectors.
- Research, collation and presentation work be continued by MSC and SkillsActive to ensure that future planned activities align clearly with sectoral needs being articulated by other SSCs/SSBs through the ongoing SSA and SQS development processes.

Cogent

Key activities for 2007:

- Occupational and functional mapping across the five Cogent industries ;
- Cogent's 'Big Ticket' projects – the mechanism for identifying and responding to M&L issues ;
- Contributing to incremental review of the M&L NOS based on intelligence gained through Cogent projects;
- Contributing to MLEQS work to ensure consistency between Cogent and network's SQS and approach to rationalising qualifications;
- Cogent M&L event planned for March 2007;
- Cogent toolkit being developed for March 2007 which will include M&L materials.

Contract Outcomes	Cogent Activity	Objectives	Progress/forthcoming activities
Promote and add value to the use of M&L NOS in the sector, in particular to develop interest with critical partners and players in the sector who may have disengaged in the past.	Work with Cogent's industry officers to assess the need for importation of M&L standards into emerging qualifications/standards, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Chemicals Gold Standard Project • Foundation Degrees • Diplomas Submit any proposed importations through the Management Peer Review Group Process (MSC)	Ensure that where M&L functions are identified within existing and future Cogent qualifications/standards development that appropriate use is made of the M&L NOS.	The Education and Qualifications team have been planning an 'Occupational and Functional Mapping' project across all five of the Cogent industries. This will be completed in September 2007. It will identify and map all of the occupations and associated functions which exist currently and any likely changes in the foreseeable future. Where appropriate these will be mapped to the current M&L NOS. This work will form the basis for all future qualifications development and rationalisation.

Contract Outcomes	Cogent Activity	Objectives	Progress/forthcoming activities
			As an outcome of the SSA process, Cogent has implemented five 'Big Ticket' projects which include Competence Assurance, UpSkill, Career Pathways, Passports and Cogent Apprenticeship. Several of these projects deal with specific aspects of M&L skills issues and will provide the mechanism through which Cogent will define and benchmark against industry standard and offer the appropriate skills solutions. M&L standards and products will be included in all projects where relevant

Skills for Justice

SfJ Delivery Plan Strategic Priority & Objective	Strategic priority SP1: Establish Skills for Justice as the authoritative and influential focus for skills development in the justice sector Top-level objective A: To lobby and influence government departments and other key partners, and contribute to the development of policies and strategies
Aim	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Increase individual and organisational performance in economic, environmental and social terms through the development of management and leadership skills. • Promote the importance of management and leadership skills to all organisations in the sector. • Persuade organisations in the sector to address management and leadership development issues by enhancing existing approaches to reflect the latest thinking on management and leadership in the external business and academic communities. • Ensure individuals and organisations are supported by accessible, relevant and quality assured learning opportunities that enable them to develop their management and leadership skills • Influence governments and other key partners and stakeholders to recognise management and leadership as a key skills requirement in the sector
Objectives	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The impact of justice sector reform and any associated management and leadership skills shortages and gaps identified • Management and leadership development activities across the breadth of the justice sector identified and categorised, segmented by sector, country and region • Development of a management and leadership development strategy owned and endorsed by all the sector's key stakeholders to provide an overarching framework containing key principles for management and leadership development within the justice sector • Management and leadership development of justice sector organisations to be kept at the forefront of the political agenda • Skills for Justice priority objectives within strategic and operational plans reviewed and amended as necessary to address key management and leadership skills issues within the justice sector • Skills for Justice's existing products and service offerings reviewed to ensure that they meet the management and leadership development needs of the justice sector. New products and service offerings developed as necessary.

The Prison Service has two projects running at the same time (unknown to each other for some time but now working together!), one to develop an Integrated Behaviours Competency Framework (IBCF) and another to develop a Leadership Qualities Framework (LQF). The key issue has been how to integrate the two pieces of work, in many ways very similar to the issues raised as a result of the need to integrate the ICF and the PLQF. Shared experience of the police service's development and integration of PLQF with ICF and this was very well received by the group who decided to follow the same methodology that we used for ICF/PLQF. Very positive feedback received from the group and the consultants who felt that SfJ involvement had been extremely helpful and positive influence in moving the projects on. Will be attending all future meetings. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Meeting with Ann-Marie Spence (newly appointed as lead on Living Leadership), Probation Service to explain SfJ role and how we can support her work with the Probation Service's Living Leadership programme.
